Gmail Krista Dandridge-Barnett <kristadandridgebarnett@gmail.com>

Re: [REGC: Local History and Genealogy] Library of Congressloc.gov | Greetings!... With respect to the reply to my inquiry as evidenced further below, I'm not interested in biographical tales or tales by any purported to have witnessed the alleged events or by any referencing such tales, as I, frankly am unable to grasp if whether or not the "information" is strictly that of what has been alleged or, simply, that of propaganda. So, to be clear, I, hereby, am requesting, if it is available, an online link to uncorrupted primary-source documentation, whereby I may review if the matters presented were, in fact, related to Negroes exclusively. And, if shown as such, if there is a continuity of those claims whereby individuals, rather descendants, may prove biologically, and by uncorrupted documentation, the matters are as alleged. I'd also be interested in receiving impartial — without motive or agenda — investigative whole data by which all claims noted within, whether it b

1 message

Krista Dandridge-Barnett <kristadandridgebarnett@gmail.com> Wed, Jul 30, 2025 at 3:30 PM
To: Genealogy and Local History <genealogy@ask.loc.gov>
Cc: Krista Dandridge-Barnett <kristadandridgebarnett@gmail.com>

Library of Congress
loc.gov

Wednesday | July 30, 2025 | 6:30PM EST

Greetings!... As you continue in reading, please be sure to know that it is not my intent for any to be offended:

With respect to the reply to my inquiry as evidenced further below, I'm not interested in biographical tales or tales by any purported to have witnessed the alleged events or by any referencing such tales, as I, frankly am unable to grasp if whether or not the "information" is strictly that of what has been alleged or, simply, that of propaganda. So, to be clear, I, hereby, am requesting, if it is available, an online link to uncorrupted primary-source documentation, whereby I may review if the matters presented were, in fact, related to Negroes exclusively. And, if shown as such, if there is a continuity of those claims whereby individuals, rather descendants, may prove biologically, and by uncorrupted documentation, the matters are as alleged.

I'd also be interested in receiving impartial — without motive or agenda — investigative whole data by which all claims noted within, whether it be, manuscripts, foot-notes, later "reports", have been scientifically proven on a national and non-associated international scale, to be that as have been alleged.

Your consideration is appreciated & Thanks...

``~Respectfully,
Krista Dandridge-Barnett

``~CONFIDENTIAL DISCLOSURE

This email and all contained herein and any files transmitted with it are confidential and intended solely for the use of the individual or entity to whom they are addressed. If you have received this email in error, please immediately notify KristaDandridgeBarnett@gmail.com. This message [email and/or attachments] contain[s] CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION and is intended only for the individual named. If you are not the named addressee, you should not disseminate, distribute, or copy this email. Please notify the sender immediately by email if you have received the email by mistake and delete this email from your system Immediately. If you are not the intended recipient, you are notified that disclosing, copying, distributing or taking any action in reliance of the contents of this information is strictly prohibited. If you are the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that disclosing, copying, distributing or taking any part of this email and/or any attachments to disclose, copy, distribute to a person or entity in which this email was and/or is not specifically addressed to is strictly prohibited. If the named addressee would like to distribute this email and/or any attachments within the particular email, the named addressee must receive proper and acceptable permission from/by Ms. Krista Dandridge-Barnett.

It should be clear and is clear that if Ms. Krista Dandridge-Barnett should contact and/or be contacted by any named addressee via the phone, any conversation between Ms. Krista Dandridge-Barnett and/or the individual[s] and/or entity[ies] must remain confidential and is not to be recorded [n]or speaker-phoned [n]or broadcast[ed] [n]or third-party "listen in" [[n]or multi-party "listen in"] at any time.

Any email[s] [and/or attachment[s]] following the original and/or subsequent email from KristaDandridgeBarnett@gmail.com is confidential whether or not the CONFIDENTIAL DISCLOSURE is immediate following the communication and/or response[s] from Ms. Krista Dandridge-Barnett. No part of this email and/or attachment may be reproduced, distributed, translated, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, or storing in any information storage and retrieval system, without the prior written permission of Ms. Krista Dandridge-Barnett.

It is hereby duly noted that no content provided should be interpreted or misinterpreted as recommendation, commitment, obligation, or legal advice, whereas to dismantle, infringe, or obstruct the rights of Krista Dandridge-Barnett.

I AM NOT AN ATTORNEY.

THIS EMAIL AND ANY ATTACHMENT[S] IS/ARE CONFIDENTIAL.

On Wed, Jul 30, 2025 at 8:32 AM Genealogy and Local History <genealogy@ask.loc.gov> wrote:

> --# Type your reply above this line #--
>
> ---
>
> Local History and Genealogy Specialist
> Jul 30 2025, 11:32AM via System
>
> Dear Krista Dandridge-Barnett,
>
> Thank you for contacting the Library of Congress regarding your request for details on the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade. Transatlantic refers to the crossing of the Atlantic Ocean, [the trade of enslaved peoples in this context], so the materials you are looking for would involve Europe, continental Africa (more expressly, West Africa), and the Americas (North and South), including the Caribbean. To research this comprehensively, you may encounter documents related to all or some of these areas.
>
> One resource that can be used to explore the records surrounding the transatlantic slave trade is " Documents Illustrative of the History of the Slave Trade to America, Vol. 1" by Dr. Elizabeth Donnan. I suggest starting here because it is well organized and consults the papers from the Royal African Company and various other manuscripts with detailed footnotes.
>
> Another resource would be Slave Voyages, a database drawing upon data in libraries and archives around the Atlantic world to offer a more exhaustive timeline of the trans-atlantic slave trade. The database compiles information about more than 36,000 voyages that forcibly transported enslaved Africans across the Atlantic Ocean between 1514 and 1866.
>
> On the Library of Congress website, you can read narratives from enslaved people, such as The Interesting Narrative of the Life of Olaudah Equiano, or Gustavus Vassa, the African, written by himself. This narrative conveys the trans-atlantic slave trade through a different lens compared to the resources listed above.
>
> Brown University has digitized many manuscripts and primary sources related to the transatlantic slave trade in the library's repository for historical documents. Including this letter, from Carter Braxton, a Virginia merchant and signer of the Declaration of Independence, to Nicholas Brown, the namesake of Brown University.
>
> Link to letter: https://library.brown.edu/cds/slaveryandjustice/browse.php?verb=retrieve&class=date&date=1763-02-01
>
> Abstract:
>
> Though most of the Brown brothers' trading activities were directed to the Caribbean, they also traded with mainland colonies. A voyage to Virginia by the sloop Four Brothers in 1763 touched off a correspondence between the Browns and Carter Braxton, a Virginia merchant and future signer of the Declaration of Independence, who proposed working together to mount a slaving voyage to Africa. "I am told there is a great Traid carried on from Rhode Island to Guinea for Negroes," Braxton wrote in this letter of February 1, 1763, "and I should be glad to enter into Partnership with some Gentlemen for a Voyage or two and have [the Negroes] sent here where I believe they sell as well as any where." The Browns initially seemed receptive to the offer, but ultimately decided to mount an African venture independently.
>
> From the African perspective, it would be beneficial to learn more about the histories of the countries affected to find relevant information on enslavement and economic conditions. Countries like Ghana, Nigeria, and Sierra Leone have been explored by scholars within and outside continental Africa about this subject.
>
> You can use this academic article as a starting point and then expand to primary sources, Slavery and the Slave Trade in the Context of West African History.
>
> Some relevant subject headings for this topic would be:
>
> - Slavery--[name of a country or U.S. state]
> - Slaves--Biography
> - Slaves--[name of a country or U.S. state]--Biography
> - Slaves' writings
>
> I hope this helps you! Please let us know if you have any additional questions.

> With gratitude,
>
> Researcher Engagement & General Collections
>
> Main Reading Room
>
> Library of Congress
>
> Thank you for using Ask A Librarian at the Library of Congress.
>
> ---
>
> Original Question
> Jul 25 2025, 01:46PM via System
>
> Library of Congress loc.gov Friday | July 25, 2025 | 1:46PM EST Greetings!... As you continue in > Library of Congress
> loc.gov
> Friday | July 25, 2025 | 1:46PM EST
>
> Greetings!... As you continue in reading, I should hope that no offense is taken as I readily, and with humility, seek clarity as to the various propagated narratives with respect to the continent presently referred to as Africa, and its alleged connection to a rumoured Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade. If the agitprop proves to be, without bias or agenda, true, I, hereby, am requesting as to where such information, explicitly and without edit, may be found, preferably, online?
>
> Your consideration is appreciated & Thanks...
>
> ---
>
> This email is sent from Ask a Librarian in relationship to ticket #16439476.
>
> Read our privacy policy.